BARRY GOLD NAMED EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF GOVERNOR'S ADVISORY COUNCIL ON AGING

(PHOENIX - November 13, 2001) – Governor Jane Dee Hull has appointed Barry Gold Executive Director of the Governor's Advisory Council on Aging. Gold will administer the advocacy work of the Council on Aging and work closely with the Department of Economic Security Aging and Adult Administration in the planning and implementing of programs for seniors throughout the state. As Executive Director he will also serve as liaison to the Arizona legislature and assure that the council is in compliance with federal and state laws.

For the past six months Gold has served as Acting Director of the Governor's Advisory Council on Aging. Prior to that he was a geriatric consultant for, among others, the Alzheimer's Association and the Arizona Senior Center Association. He has vast experience in case management and in working with entities in the aging network enabling him to experience first hand the programs and services needed by seniors and their families.

Gold earned a Bachelor of Science in Psychology at Arizona State University. He begins his new duties immediately.
